

Health Information Technology

WHY HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY?

Health Information Technology improves quality and safety.

- Effective use of health IT improves care delivery and patient safety and is key to ongoing transformation of the health care system.
- New payment and incentive programs require increasingly sophisticated use of data and technology to support high quality care and lower cost.
- Health information exchange (HIE) allows secure, timely information sharing by authorized users, between multiple care settings.
- Telemedicine increases access to needed care.

WHY STRATIS HEALTH?

Stratis Health is on the cutting-edge of leveraging e-health.

- We prepare health care organizations, clinicians, communities, and patients to exchange electronic information. We advance e-health in behavioral health, primary care and speciality clinics; chiropractic offices; home health agencies; hospitals; nursing homes; as well as public health and social service agencies.
- Our staff experts consult on how to extract and use data for internal quality improvement, external public reporting of quality measures, and achieving success in value-based care payment models.
- We advance the use of open electronic clinical notes, supporting patient engagement and increased safety.
- We offer health IT education and subject matter expertise to policy makers and program leaders at both the state and federal level.
