

Stratis Health: Leading Transformation

What we do

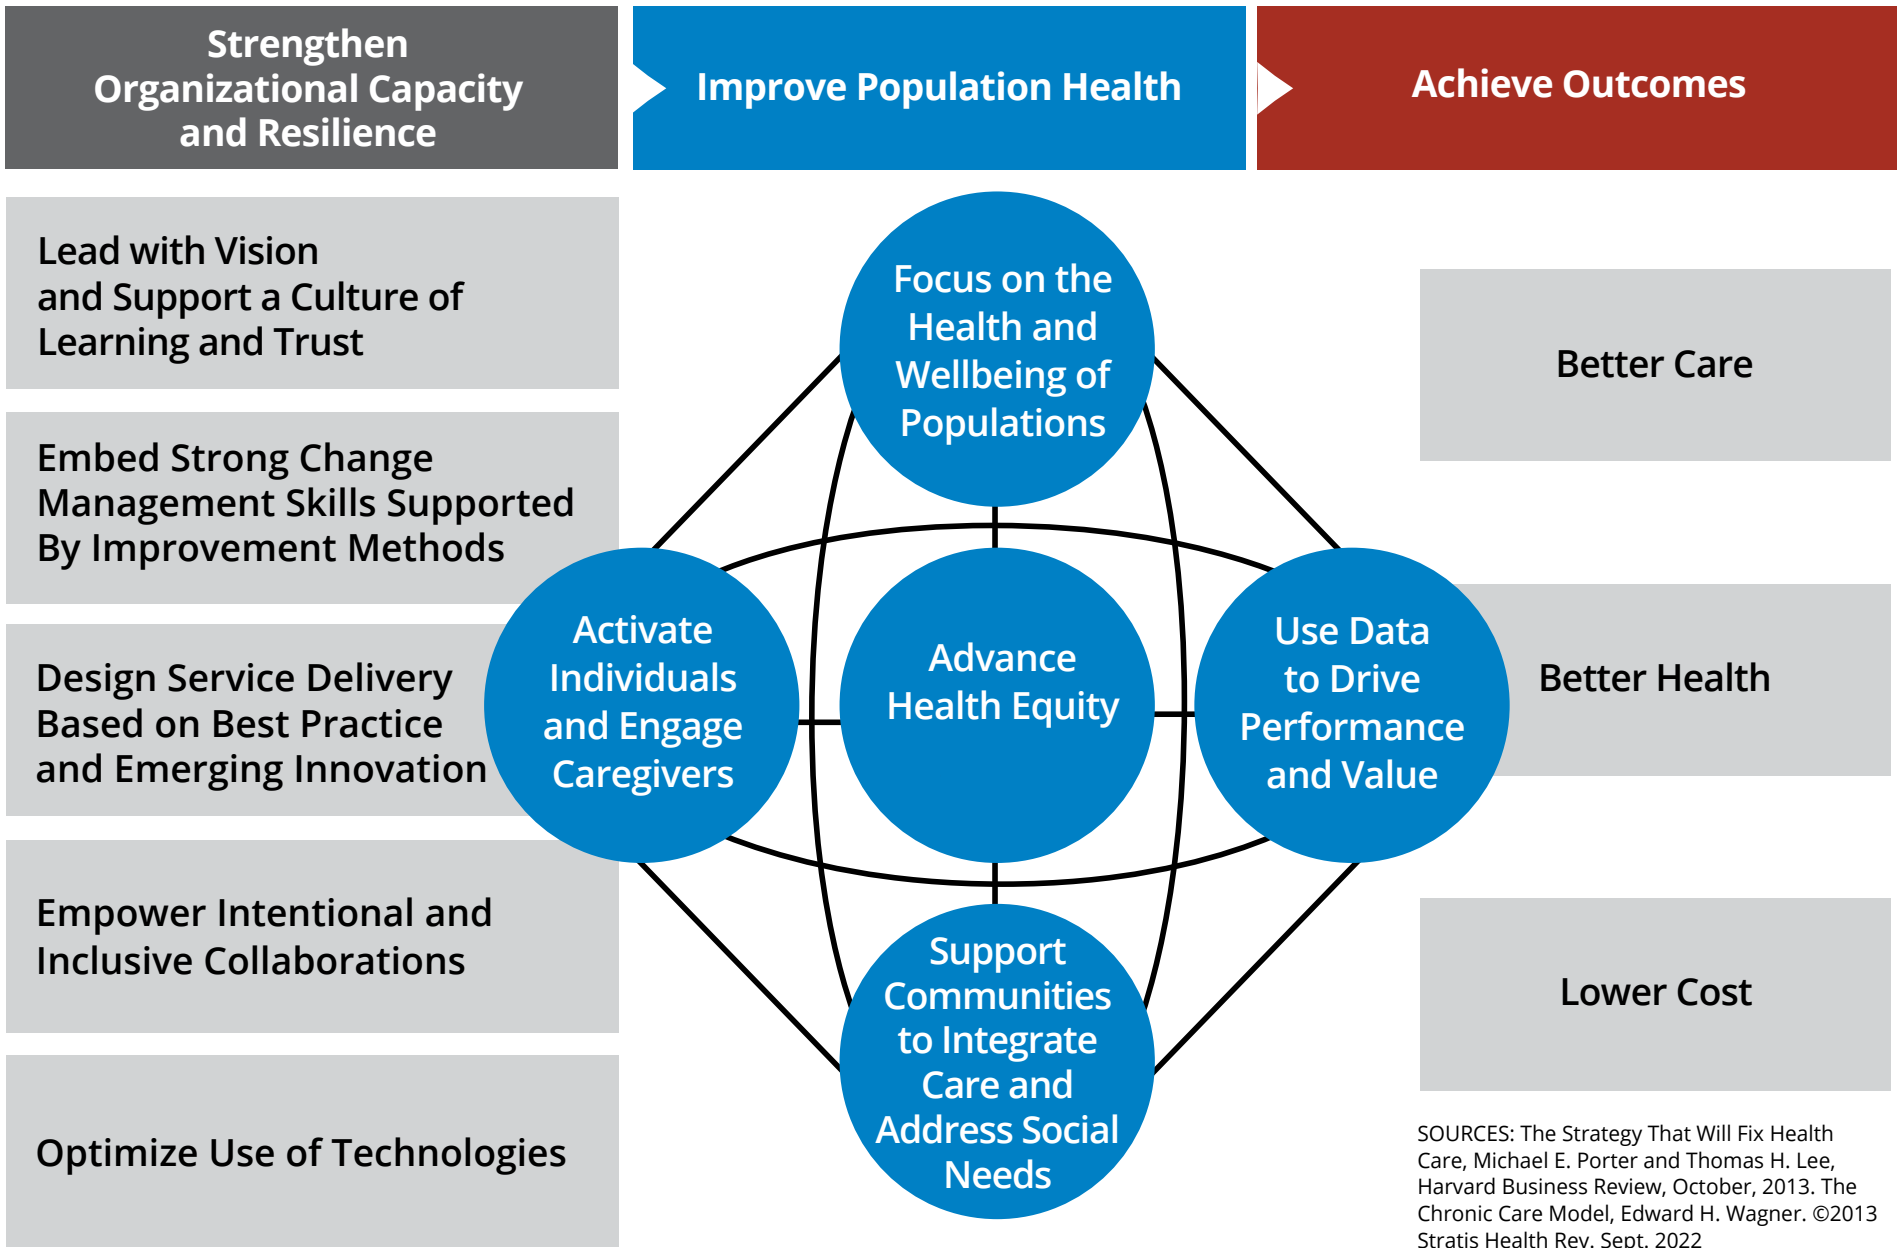

Stratis Health is a nonprofit organization with a mission to collaborate and innovate to improve health. We work nationwide and across the continuum of care, including for:

- Health systems, hospitals, clinics, nursing homes, and home and community-based services
- Payers such as health plans, accountable care organizations (ACOs), and employers
- Public health and community-based organizations

The Evidence

How we are helping people

Rural Health

- Worked with more than 45 rural communities in 6 states to support development of community-based palliative care services.
- Nearly 150,000 rural Medicare consumers have benefited from efforts to improve care coordination and reduce hospital readmissions.
- More than 1,350 critical access hospitals are supported through 45 State Rural Flex Programs to increase quality data reporting and drive care value.

Patient Safety

- Analyzed and created action plans for more than 4,400 “never events” at Minnesota hospitals and surgical centers over more than 15 years.
- Provided technical assistance to 24 Medicare-certified Indian Health Service-managed hospitals to assist with pandemic response and emergency preparedness and to help reduce opioid-related mortality, improve patient safety, and improve transitions of care among the American Indian/Alaska Native community.

Health Plan Medicaid Performance Improvement Projects (PIPS)

- Improved the health of public program members and reduced disparities by facilitating collaborative health plan performance improvement projects in Minnesota, including on:
 - Comprehensive diabetes care (current)
 - Maternal and child health (current)
 - Chlamydia screening
 - Depression management
 - Increasing dental access
 - Reducing chronic opioid use

Improving Care For Medicare Beneficiaries

- 94% of participating organizations implemented an antibiotic stewardship program.
- Nearly 69,000 fewer beneficiaries considered at high risk are taking opioids.
- 73% of beneficiaries screened for depression.

The What

Making dramatic improvements in caring for people with multiple chronic conditions a reality

About one in four Americans is living with multiple chronic conditions (MCC), and about two out of three Medicare beneficiaries have MCC, putting them at increased risk for mortality and compromised day-to-day functioning than those who are in good health. In addition, about 66% of total U.S. health care spending is associated with caring for the over one in four with MCC.

While payers are motivated to take action to assist people with MCC, it can seem like an overwhelming challenge. Stratis Health focuses on prevention and treatment to facilitate change between patients and their care teams to improve care rapidly, tenaciously, and purposefully. We design and facilitate effective engagements and collaborations that mobilize resources to deliver high-value outcomes and bring to scale evidence-based practices. We bridge health care organizations and communities so everyone can receive the care and services they need to become their healthy best.

We do it every day, and we can do it for you! Learn more about how we are making lives better at stratishealth.org.
